District Sunday School Conventions. The annual District Sunday School Conventions for the current year will be held at the following times and places: Whips Cove Christian church, Monday afternoon and evening, December 10th; Needmore, Tuesday afternoon and evening, December 11th; Wells Valley M. E. church, Wednesday afternoon and evening, December 12th; Hustontown, Thursday afternoon and evening, December 13th; the "White Church" in Ayr township, Friday afternoon—and the Reformed church in McConnellsburg, Friday evening—December 14th. The afternoon sessions will begin at 1:30; the evening, 7 o'clock. W. D. Reel, one of the State's strongest workers will be present at each session, and also one or more of the County workers. The County, and the State, organization, want that each convention shall be a power for good in the community in which it is held; but this can only be accomplished by having the hearty cooperation of every friend of the Sunday school in the community, by turning out with a determination to make the meetings, a great success. It is hoped that the Sunday school superintendents will announce these meetings at the Sunday schools immediately preceding the convention, and strongly urge everybody to attend and take part. The Sunday school is the Church's arm, but if its strength is to be maintained it must have the support of every one interested in the success of the cause of Christianity. Activities of the Red Cross. In answer to charges that there has been extravagance in the management of the Red Cross Society and that expenses have been abnormal a report has been issued which gives details that ought to satisfy the most captious. So far it has taken less than one per cent. of receipts to collect more than $100,000,000 subscribed last summer. Most of the work of the organization is conducted by men and women without salaries. Only a few of high executive ability are paid what may be called salaries, while the rest of the expense is for clerical work which cannot be expected to be voluntary. Recently the organization's control passed into the hands of some of the eminent business men of this country, who have adopted methods of accounting and administration which would do credit to the most soulless corporation. There is now no opportunity for graft or for leakage. Where the money has been spent is set forth as well as the items for each country. The Red Cross has been sending millions to all parts of the war zone and thinks it can get along at the same rate until spring. Then there must be a call for more funds at a time when our boys are going into battle and will need every possible assistance. That there will be a generous response need not be doubted. There are those who have a notion that the War Department has abandoned all the wounded to the care of this private institution. That is pure ignorance. The Red Cross has been active in raising "ambulances," which are field hospitals fully equipped with surgeons, nurses and materials, but these are turned over to the War Department, which is also raising units of its own. The nation cares for its wounded. What the Red Cross does is to act as an auxiliary in providing nurses and dressings and in comforting the sick and wounded. In other armies it does much or all of the work at its own expense. The plain truth is that the Nation could hardly do the work of the Red Cross on any terms. It could not even commandeer at any price the labor which is now given as a loving service. The women who knit and sew and make bandages are necessary to provide the hospitals with supplies and they must from now on work much harder than ever before. The Red Cross is probably the most efficient, most economical and most praiseworthy institution outside religion which ever entered the service of mankind. It needs your help right along. Its greatest work is yet to come.
